

CO-OP HOUSES HERE MAY STAY OPEN TO APR. 15

Officials of the Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Marketing Association have so far arrived at no definite date for the closing of the receiving warehouses in the light belt. However, it is learned Saturday that the chances are that most of the smaller delivery points will be closed about March 15th although a few houses fairly well distributed will be kept open until a later date in order to close the door entirely to farmers who still have tobacco to be delivered. The chances are that Danville, Chatham and South Boston receiving stations will be kept open longer than March 15th. In fact, it was intimated last night that the three points mentioned would remain in operation until about the middle of April.

NEWSBOY'S CLOSE CALL WITH AUTO

Norman Boswell, a newsboy, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury Saturday evening when he was struck by a car driven by a man who was driving recklessly. Boswell was riding down Loyal street on his bicycle when he ran his machine in front of a passing automobile driven by P. W. Ashworth. Mr. Ashworth seeing an accident impending displayed presence of mind and immediately applied his brakes. The automobile struck the boy who by throwing himself against the automobile managed to escape serious injury. The car after it had run over the wheel of his bicycle was sustained by Boswell but his wheel was considerably damaged.

HORSES CHEAP IN COUNTY CLARE

DUBLIN, Feb. 6.—So great is the glut of agricultural horses in County Clare that useful yearlings worth $100 some years ago have been sold for $15 or $20, and some fairly good animals have changed hands at $2.50.

FELT "ALL GONE" IN HIS STOMACH

Wilkes-Barre Man Takes Paw Paw and Finds Way Back to Health

"For many years I suffered from what may be described as 'all-gone feeling' in the pit of the stomach," says Charles Taylor, 161 State St., Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

"My appetite was very poor; my strength and vitality were leaving me. Nothing seemed to help me, even though I had many prescriptions compounded as given to me by physicians of high medical standing.

"One day, while in the drug store, I talked with the gentleman who is exhibiting Paw Paw Tonic and giving health talks on diseases common to every one. I became interested and explained my case to him.

"He suggested that I purchase a bottle of Paw Paw Tonic and take it according to directions. I gladly bought the Paw Paw because I was willing to try anything for relief. I faithfully took it for a little over a week and now report that my appetite is now first class.

"I have no trouble with my stomach or bowels. I feel, in fact, stronger in every way than in years. My vitality and general mental power have greatly increased, and I thank the Paw Paw Man for showing me a way to health."

This might just as well be your experience as that of Charles Taylor. Why don't you try Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic? It costs only $1 a bottle and you can get it at any first-class drug store. It is wonderful for indigestion, stomach troubles, loss of energy, nervousness, heartburn, depression, feeling after eating, biliousness, nervousness and general run-down condition. Buy a bottle TODAY! "There's a Munyon's Pill for Every Ill." Munyon's, Scranton, Pa.

Liggett-Myers to Add a New Unit to Local Plant

The Liggett-Myers Company has decided to increase the storage space at its plant on lower Church street and the task of surveying property adjoining the present handsome concrete structure is already under way. Julian C. Jordan, who has for many years been in charge of the local interests of that corporation, confirmed the report Saturday, stating that the building would be undertaken without further delay. He said that he could not give the cost of the addition, but he stated that the addition would be similar in construction to the present building and that it would materially enlarge the present storage capacity, the new wing to have space for five thousand hogheads.

At the time the plant was built Mr. Jordan, it is recalled, stated that as the volume of business grew additional units would be added. In fact it was anticipated that the following completion of the present plant an addition would be made. Building costs soared, however, at that time and the project of immediately adding was delayed indefinitely.

Mr. Jordan said that the plans and the task of letting the contract was being handled from the central office of the tobacco company and he was no conversant with the details at this stage. He pointed out, however, in passing that it would mean something to have the plant only on the taxable value of the addition but also of the tobacco which would be kept in storage here.

W. B. MILLNER'S BODY IS LAID AT REST HERE

A large number of friends of the deceased and of his family attended the funeral of W. Banks Miller, a well known former resident of this city, at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. S. E. Hughes, 716 Main street, Saturday afternoon. The Rev. T. A. Smoot, D. D., conducting the simple services. Among those present were several of that now fast diminishing band, the veterans of the Confederate army, who were comrades in arms of the deceased.

Besides the familiar ritual service of the church for such occasions, including the familiar Scripture lessons, Dr. Smoot read the hymns, "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Abide With Me." The service at the home concluded, the body was conveyed to Green Hill cemetery and there interred. The pall was borne by Charles L. Booth, Captain Harry Wooding, E. T. Fretwell, W. W. Williamson, J. W. Cook and A. H. Taylor.

Many beautiful floral expressions of sympathy and sorrow had been sent by friends. These were borne by J. P. Swanson, Dr. J. E. Taylor, L. R. Wyatt, P. J. Hundley, S. J. Owens, William Fox, George C. Friend, P. R. Hatcher, John W. Gibson, Charles K. Carter, J. A. Lawson, E. T. Parham, George Ivy, A. D. Keen, A. A. Gies and others.

MRS. LOVELACE DIES AT WITT IN 92ND YEAR

Mrs. Elizabeth Lovelace, probably one of the oldest residents of Pittsylvania county died Saturday afternoon at her home near Witt. Mrs. Lovelace who was 91 years of age contracted pneumonia about a week ago and gradually weakened until yesterday at 3:30 she died peacefully.

Mrs. Lovelace, despite her great age had enjoyed unusual health and strength. About two years ago a failing of physical powers was noted but she was well and usually active for a woman of her years.

She was born near Keeling being a daughter of Abraham White. She was married in 1866, or almost immediately following the close of the Civil War, to Daniel Lovelace who died in 1912. Mrs. Lovelace is survived by a son, Charles P. Lovelace, of Witt. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Maria Westbrook, of Greensboro, N. C., and two brothers, John White, who is in his 93rd year and Abraham White slightly younger.

BOOTLEGGING IS THE CHIEF SIDELINE.

The most lucrative income in the Underworld comes to the leaders from bootlegging protection during labor trouble.

One of the best known mob leaders told me that he had made $15,000 in one strike that lasted about three weeks.

He is now busy lining up new prospects for an impending strike in a large trade.

"I furnish the men for $15 a day," he explained, "and give them $8."

"I have 25 of the mob placed already, and can run the number up to 400, if necessary."

If there is any trouble, the leaders have their list of blot helpers to call upon.

There are blot physicians who do not file the reports with the police when there is a shooting or a stabbing.

There are blot lawyers who are good mouth-pieces and have a big drag.

So the mob-leaders play pretty big hands.

STIFF FIGHT TO KEEP HIM OUT OF PRISON

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—A stiff fight, it was asserted today, will be made to keep Wm. H. Anderson, who was reported last night as having resigned as state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league from going to Sing Sing prison to which he was sentenced yesterday by supreme court Justice Tompkins. Arguments will be heard before Judge Wagner on the proposed fight for a new trial in the supreme court.

Should Justice Wagner refuse the plea, Anderson would have to go to Sing Sing without delay to begin his term of between one and two years. It is understood that he should be granted the way would be paved for an appeal and he probably would be at liberty in $5,000 bail in which he was freed yesterday until a new trial was held.

The minimum time Anderson would serve is nine months and twenty days on the provision that good behavior bring; commutation. Unless the verdict is reversed, Anderson will lose his citizenship and be considered a felon under the law.

Anderson was convicted of forgery in altering the league's books by transferring money from the treasury account to the expense account of O. Berestall Phillips, a fund collector.

Justice Tompkins said Anderson's crime was "deliberately committed" and aggravated "by some of his testimony which he was obviously untrue."

FOUR REPORTS ON NEW REVENUE MEASURE ARE PRESENTED TO HOUSE

Bill Gives Material Relief to Income Tax Payers, Resulting in Annual Saving of $341,440,000—Expected to Provide Month's Debate.

(By the Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Four reports on the new revenue bill, differing with the one question of income and surtax rates, were reported to the house today by members of the Ways and Means committee.

The measure which has occupied more than two months of the committee's time, is expected to provide at least a month's debate in the house, where a change in the rules will permit its amendment from the floor.

Chairman Greene, in submitting the committee report, which was adopted by a strict party vote in the committee—although three of the Republicans, including Mr. Greene, are known to favor its adoption—declared the income tax reductions provided for by the bill as submitted, will bring an annual saving to tax payers estimated at $341,440,000 after it is in full operation, as compared with the estimated 1923 income returns, together with an estimated reduction of $232,750,000 in 1923 personal income tax payable this year.

The reduction in estimated revenue will be distributed as follows: Normal tax $91,600,000; Sur taxes $101,000,000; earned income $89,500,000 and miscellaneous on war excise taxes, many of which are repealed $108,040,000. This will be offset by increases resulting from figures on capital losses and certain deductions limited to tax-free income which it is estimated will bring in $49,500,000 additional revenue annually.

Mr. Green said: "The bill gives material relief to all income tax payers and the amount of reductions and consequent losses to the treasury is larger in the lower brackets than in the higher, though the percentage of reduction of course, is much larger in the higher brackets than in the lower."

Explaining the reduction in the maximum surtax from 50 to 25 per cent Mr. Green referred to Secretary Mellon's argument that this rate "should be considered the point at which they" surtaxes probably would be applied effectively or the unit of maximum productivity. He added, however, that "it is impossible to accurately determine at what rate of tax this point is reached, but it seems to be generally conceded that a fifty per cent surtax has a constantly increasing effect in creating stragglers, and that it is invariable for other reasons."

Referring to the provision for a 25 per cent reduction in the tax on earned incomes the chairman said: "The definition that at least $5,000 of the tax payers income shall in all cases be considered earned amply provides for the small tax payer, such as the farmer and merchant whose income is derived in part from personal services and in part from capital, and approaches exact justice as near as it is possible without making the law unworkable and impossible of administration."

The following changes were cited as designed to prevent the avoidance of the income tax:

"The existing law provides that the amount by which the tax is increased on account of the gain from the sale of capital assets shall not exceed 12.2 per cent of the gain and in the proposed bill it is provided that the amount by which the tax is reduced on account of losses from the sale of capital assets shall not exceed 12.2 per cent of the loss."

"The provision of the reorganization section have been rewritten to prevent the use of the section to escape proper taxation by increasing the basis for depreciation or depletion or by increasing the basis for determining gain or loss from the sale of assets transferred in connection with a reorganization or distributing as capital gains what are in effect out of earnings."

"Where the grantor of a trust retains the power of revocation the income of the trust is to be taxed by him."

"The penalty imposed by section 220 upon corporations available to avoid imposition of surtaxes on the stockholders is now based upon all of the income of corporation which would be taxed in the hands of an individual, and the presumption is created that any investment company is avoided for the purpose of avoiding the imposition of surtaxes on stockholders."

"The deduction for interest paid on indebtedness (other than interest paid or incurred in connection with the trade or business of the taxpayer) and the deduction for non-business losses are allowed only to the extent that the sum of these two items exceeds the tax exempt income of the taxpayer."

The report of the eleven Republicans of the committee was the same as chairman Green's except for additional argument defending the cut in surtaxes to a maximum of 25 per cent. It pointed out that the high rates were becoming increasingly unproductive, stating that incomes of $100,000 constituted 2.5 per cent of the total income reported in 1916 and 5.4 per cent, and 4.5 per cent, respectively, in 1920 and 1921.

"The only way that the income tax as applied to large incomes can be made an advantage," the report said, "is by reducing the rate of tax to a sound level and thus lessening the incentive to taxpayers to avoid the tax."

The Democratic report called for a reduction in the normal taxes to two per cent on net incomes up to $5,000; four per cent on incomes between $5,000 and $8,000 and six per cent above that amount. Representative Garner's original plan called for a four per cent tax on incomes between $5,000 and $10,000 and the reduction to $8,000 was explained as necessary to cut down somewhat the loss in revenue which the treasury reported would be sustained under the plan. The surtax rates proposed by the Democrats would start with one per cent at $12,000 and increase to 44 per cent on incomes of $92,000 and over.

These rates, the report said, would result in a loss of revenue under treasury estimates, of $186,247,386 in the normal taxes compared to $77,014,884 under the Mellon rates adopted by the committee and $139,803,195 in the surtaxes compared to $200,322,243 under the Mellon surtaxes. The figures were based on 1921 revenue returns.

S. her first port on this side of the world another courier was detailed to relay the package to New York. This last move beat the Zealand to the port of New York by 24 hours.)

tion that representative Garner, ranking Democrat of the committee was "playing politics" in offering this tax revision plan, the report declared his expression was an unbecoming and insolent as it is imprudent and in the judgment of the minority, is in the worst of bad faith toward progressive income taxation."

In addition to asking different income rates, the Democrats proposed higher estate tax and enactment of a gift tax, together with the repeal of a number of miscellaneous taxes in addition to those already revised by the committee.

The report explained that all features of the bill were considered by the whole incomes rates, were reached when the Democrats were included. Many sections of the measure, other than the income rates, are praised, particularly provisions relating to stopping loopholes in the administration of the law, by which many large tax payers escape their just taxes" but the report added that the majority bill still leaves large discretionary powers with the treasury department in tax matters."

Co-Ops Dealing With Southern For Plant Site

A verbal understanding is said to have been reached here Saturday between the Southern Railway Company and the Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Marketing Association regarding the site of a new plant. The plan of the co-op organization would secure by purchase a large tract of land below the Southern railway for the purpose of building a storage warehouse with 10,000 hoghead capacity.

E. T. Walton, regional director for the Association who was asked about the matter Saturday, stated that he had not been informed as to the termination of a series of conferences which have taken place between Captain James H. Drake of Richmond, representative of the Southern Railway Company and Oliver J. Sands and Richard R. Atterton, representing the "pool". He knew that during the past week or two there has been a good deal of interest displayed by the Southern in striving to induce the marketing organization to build a large storage plant in this city and that an attractive proposition had been made. The officials were here all day yesterday. It is one so attractive in fact that there is little doubt but that it will be definitely accepted. The property which the Southern railway has offered to the "pool" organization is a large tract opposite the plant of the Liggett and Myers Company near the Atlantic Danville Railway and a project which the tobacco concern was interested in securing at the time the large redrying and storage plant was built across the street.

The officials of the marketing organization are desirous of building a storage plant in Danville and have been waiting some time because of the railroads here. For some weeks property has been looked over but it has been hard to secure land easy of access to the railway and at a price considered attractive by officials of the association. The plans which Mr. Walton understands are in view is the erection of a structure, sufficiently large to take care of ten million pounds of dried tobacco or ten thousand hogheads. Some idea of the size of such a structure may be gained when it is said that Acres warehouse, the largest in the city occupies 26,000 square feet. The plan proposed by the Co-operative Marketing Association would be double the size of Acres and would cover approximately 100,000 square feet.

Mr. Walton stated that he knew nothing of the probable cost of the proposed building though the intentions of the Co-operative Marketing Association may be gauged by the fact that local contractors have been approached and asked to submit estimates on a concrete plant. The proposed tobacco storage will not contain redrying machinery, it is learned, and the establishment here of such a building would probably not interfere with the concrete entered into by the Association with local firms.

FEDERALS SCORE BIG VICTORY IN 11 HOUR FIGHT

Rebels Suffer Overwhelming Defeat Near Octolan; Casualties Heavy.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 11.—Following closely upon their success on the Vera Cruz front, government forces have scored an overwhelming victory on the banks of the River Lerma near Octolan, after eleven hours of furious fighting, a message from President Obregon states.

Federals crossed the Lerma near its mouth on the eastern side of Lake Chapala, gaining a foothold for a continuation of their march against the de la Huerta stronghold to the northwest.

The rebels, President Obregon's message states, had fortified the right bank of the river, and aided by the natural advantages of the position, put up a stiff resistance. The government troops moved Saturday morning, crossing the river over a pontoon bridge under heavy rebel fire, and attacked the fortified heights, which is nicknamed "Death's Balcony."

The fighting continued until 6 o'clock at night when the rebels are declared to have hoisted a white flag and sounded bugles calling for a parley.

Heavy casualties were suffered by both sides, the federals losing 300 in killed and wounded.

"Put Apinol On It"

That's what you hear in thousands of North Carolina homes whenever anyone, big or little has the ill luck to mash a finger, burn a hand, or cut or tear the flesh anywhere.

They say it with confidence, knowing from experience that "Put Apinol on it" cleans the wound, kills the germs and sends a raw surface against infection from air or water. Nature then does the healing with unusual speed.

Children fear iodine but they like Apinol because it doesn't sting or burn. Iodine is a dangerous poison and causes many a bad burn. You won't need iodine if you have Apinol.

You can get Apinol at the drug store now in original cartooned two-ounce bottles at 30c. The label bears the mark of the Pine Spray—adv.

Lynchburg Shows a Neat Balance

LYNCHBURG, Va., Feb. 11.—The financial statement of the city of Lynchburg for the fiscal year ending January 31, just arrived at shows that the city last year spent the sum of $224,865.67 on capital outlay, or permanent improvements, and came thru the year with a balance of $45,811.77, without having resorted to bond issue, all of the financial operations being upon the current revenues of the city.

Water Department's Balance

The water department, which is segregated to itself and carries its own bonded debt and sinking fund requirements, showed a balance of $4,302.10, after paying cost of administration and enlargements, while the actual balance in the general financial statement for the city was $15,509.67, after expending 199,230.79 for permanent improvements.

Combining the financial statements of the city for the past two years, the statement shows, the city has expended the sum of $545,184.43 for permanent improvements out of the current revenues and still has the balance of $18,509.67.

Fine Record Claimed

The impression is held here in municipal circles that no other city in Virginia will make such an exhibit in its financial statement.

Three years ago the city issued bonds to pay for two new school buildings, but none of this is taken into account in the general financial showing, as the school funds are also segregated entirely to the school board.

Woman Weaker Than Man?

DR. CLAUDIA DUELL MOSHER.

By MARIAN HALE

NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The old idea that woman is weaker physically than man will be as obsolete as the belief that she is inferior mentally.

This may be the situation of Dr. Claudia Duell Mosher of Leland Stanford University, whose book, "Woman's Physical Freedom," has just been published, has sized up the matter correctly.

"Increased scientific knowledge of woman's physiology has shown that the physical weakness and incapacities supposed to be inherent to sex are not due to sex at all, but to removable causes," she says.

"With her characteristic directness the modern girl has grasped this fact and proceeded to remove the removable. She has done this by exercise, sensible clothes and sensible diet."

"The sweet quality of those languid heroines of Dickens and Thackeray with their fainting, blushing, nervous and neurotic were the result of wrong clothes and lack of exercise," Dr. Mosher avers.

In a group of 82 college students examined by Dr. Mosher in the 30's skirts varied from nine to 15 feet in width with an average of 13.5 feet. The weight of these garments suspended from tightly laced waists was often greater than the combined weight of all the clothing worn by the girl of today.

"Today," she contrasts, "the college woman, mentioned particularly because she happens to be more available for statistics, with her larger waist and like body is already an inch and two-thirds taller than the girl of 20 years ago and she is fit for any kind of work."

So she believes it is the coming generation that will really answer the much discussed question as to what women's real capabilities are. Then, for the first time in history, women will stand up evenly against the men of their generation.

The Tangle

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

"You have no proof of anything of the sort," answered Jack angrily when I mentioned Sydney Carton as the father of little Jack. "I do wish people would not interfere with my business."

"My dear Jack, you cannot stop people from talking. You know as well as I that you were very glad when I told you I was not leaving the city. You yourself were trying to create the gossip which you had heard."

"You may not believe it, Jack, but Ruth Ellington is one of the best friends you have, not for your sake particularly, but because she is fond of me. She told me that, however innocent you might be in the matter of taking down the billboard, it would be impossible to make the people think it was for any other reason than that you were angry because the billboard people were advertising Paula Perler."

"Well, I wish you would never mention the matter to me again. I'm sick and tired of it," growled Jack, walking up and down the floor. "I wonder if it isn't possible in this day and age for a man and woman to adopt a baby without someone speculating about its parentage. Forget it, Leslie. forget it!"

"All right, Jack, I will, provided you will give me the money that belongs to Ruth and treat her as though you had forgotten the incident."

"No, I'll do nothing of the kind. I'm waiting for answers to some letters I have written."

"Well, I'll tell you honestly, Jack, if you do not return that money to little before long she will institute action to recover it. It is intended."

Jack got up hastily, jammed his hat upon his head, slammed the door and went out. Our evening was ruined. I called up Ruth and found she had gone out.

Little Marquise, I wonder if all married people have so many misunderstandings—so many times when each one deceives the other more or less. It almost seems to me that I have had something to keep from Jack ever since we were married, something which, although perfectly innocent of itself, would seem terrible to anyone who did not understand. I presume Jack has had the same experiences which he tried to keep from me.

Marriage is more or less of a disappointment—it must be—to everyone who enters it. The moment two people who have been deliciously in love and who have been living in a world of sentiment and passion become husband and wife, all the other things of life are suddenly launched upon them. They must work and plan and think and do all that is necessary to live. And love, being a little jealous god, grows sulky at these interruptions in the worship of his devotees.

He then goes away and hides himself, and only once in a while comes and shows his corner to let us know what we're missing.

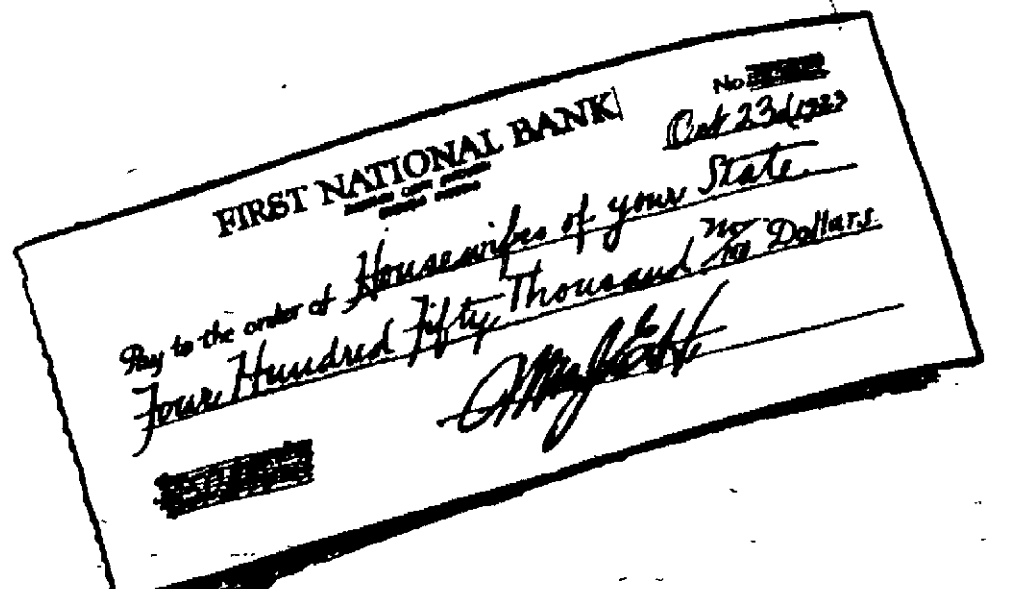

Oh, little Marquise, I sometimes think, although I would hardly dare to say it aloud, that your romance might have been the most satisfactory after all. In fact, it seems to me that romance ends when marriage begins.

Housewives in this State can save about half a million dollars

Startling facts reported by Mrs. J. E. H., of Richmond, Va.

If every one of us bought our flour in ROPAX—Sanitary Rope Paper Sacks—our total savings would amount to about $500,000.00 on the cost of the flour alone.

SIX DEFINITE ADVANTAGES

1. No waste. Flour cannot sift through paper.
2. Clean flour. Dirt cannot sift in.
3. Protection from impurities. Germs, insects and insect eggs cannot find their way through or lodge in rope paper.
4. Water-proof.
5. No odors. When flour is in ROPAX no odor can penetrate the stoutness of the rope paper.
6. Economy. Rope paper is less expensive and, as you well know, the cost of the sack is included in the price you pay for the flour. When you buy flour in ROPAX you get the saving that the manufacturer has passed on to you.

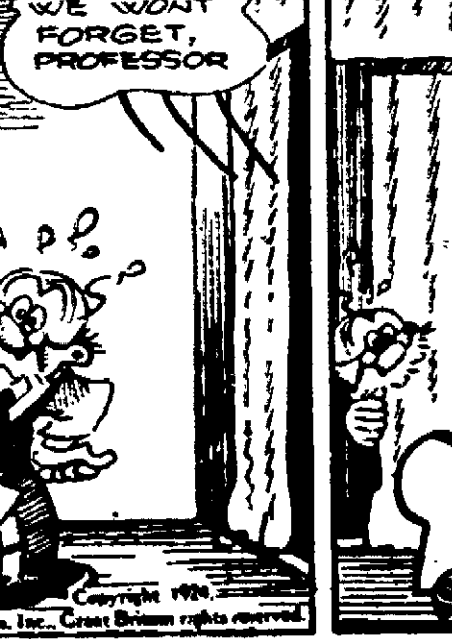

Why not start right now and get the protection of ROPAX—and start saving your part of that half million? Your grocer can supply you with flour in ROPAX.

The following brands of flour can be obtained in ROPAX—the Rope Paper Sacks.

HAS LITTLE HOPE REALIZING CLAIMS

(By the Associated Press.)

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 9.—There is at least one member of the Edwards family who does not share the optimism of the others of that name who have retained attorneys to press their claims to a mysterious estate in New York City, said to be worth millions. He is Charles Robert Edwards of Portsmouth, a namesake of the Robert Edwards who is supposed to have been granted sixty acres of land in what is now the heart of New York City by King George II.

Robert Edwards is said to have leased this land for 99 years and to have died before the lease expired. But Charles Robert Edwards does not expect to get a penny from the so-called estate, and he is not paying any lawyers to investigate his "claim." He said so today in an interview in which he declared he was willing to sell his entire interest in the mysterious millions for ten cents. He added that he was willing to accept stamps.

He said "some lawyer called at my house the other day. He left word that he would handle my claim. I would pay him $10 as a first fee. It's a good thing for him that I wasn't home."

NATIONAL TRIO PLEASE AUDIENCE

Caveman methods of winning women are not out of date. So one would judge by the program presented Saturday in the Danville High School when the National Trio gave a clever interpretation of Booth Tarkington's "The Man From Indiana," and "The Day's Way Out." A delightful variation was a group of readings and musical selections.

The first number, "The Man From Indiana," was played in one act by all the members of the company. Barney Thompson took the leading role, and played, as well, the part of Almeric St. Albans. In both he was at his best, showing unusual skill in playing the part of the worn out Englishman, planning to make a marriage with the rich American girl, and the slow but sensible westerner. A drawl once rather unexpected in this type, seemed to be entirely appropriate and certainly gave opportunity for clever management on the part of Mr. Thompson.

Miss Evelyn Fonda, as Ethel Simpson, knew how to vary quickly from the girl who wished to be the titled woman, to the western girl like her charming mother. She learned this lesson well under the tutelage of the sensible, young, western lawyer who unexpectedly woke up and used man's untalented method in dealing with some types of woman. Ethel returned to normal and went home. Lady Constances St. Albans, the little girl who was faultless in her manner was admirably played by Miss Margaret Byers.

In the group of musical selections and readings Miss Byers had further opportunity to show the versatility of her talent. She gave several clever impersonations, one solo voice number, and sang in delightful voice with Mr. Thompson Schubert's "Song of Love." Whether in song or in reading her voice was delightfully sweet and clear. Frequent and prolonged applause testified to the pleasure she gave the audience.

As cellist and as vocal soloist Mr. Thompson was no less skillful than as the leading man in the plays. One song that he sang was his own composition, on the fact that he played his own cello accompaniment made it all the more pleasing.

Miss Fonda gave a piano solo and played all the accompaniment for Miss Byers' number was "The Way Out." This was a satire on the new woman, and ended happily as soon as the new woman found that her husband still had enough ginger to beat her up if necessary in order to make her see that she was more needed at home than at the office. As the hen pecked husband and as the man asserting his rights Mr. Thompson showed himself at home. Almerion, the neglected son of the family, was that very delightful person, a real boy, when he was at home with his father while his mother made speeches in the other room. A happy boyish laugh was one of the most delightful characteristics of Miss Byers' interpretation of this part. The new woman part and her changed character after the husband asserted himself showed Miss Fonda's ability to vary her impersonation, and completed the trio of accomplished artists.

The High School and others who have had the privilege of attending the Lyceum numbers have been fortunate in the kind of entertainment given, and this third number was certainly up to the standard set by those who have preceded the National Trio.

BIG ISSUE IN ELECTIONS

PARIS, Feb. 9.—The high cost of living in France promises to be one of the principal issues in the election of the next government.

ment, during the campaign for the forthcoming general elections.

Posters are being prepared for placarding in all the municipalities of France, emphasizing the increase in the price of necessities of life under the present rule.

In the list prepared it is noted that bread and wine, which the average Frenchman regards as first in the necessities of life, have been subjected to the smallest relative increase.

CHESBRO GOES TO WASHINGTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Jack Chesbro, famous old time twirler, announced today he had closed negotiations with the Washington Club to become coach of pitchers and assistant manager of the Senators for 1924. His return to the majors after an absence of more than a decade is a result of a conference at Baltimore recently with Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Club.

EXCLUSIVE DANVILLE AGENCY FOR UNITED RETAIL STORES—"HAPPINESS CANDY"

SMUGGLERS LOSE $1,500,000 IN VENTURE IN WHISKEY

(Chicago Tribune Service)
LONDON, Feb. 8.—One group of canny Scotsmen who had hoped to make great wealth by smuggling whiskey into the United States have lost nearly $1,500,000 on their venture.
The whiskey—several cargoes—was delivered to somewhere on the American coast, but the men who took it ashore in almost every instance pocketed the proceeds and snapped their fingers at the shippers.
The shippers, Altken, Melrose Ltd., had a general manager in the United States eight months trying to collect from the actual runners, all of whom told him to go jump in the Atlantic. The stockholders at a meeting in Edinburgh today decided to liquidate the company whose liabilities are $349,000 and assets $31,000. The liabilities principally are bill owed distillers and shipowners.
The security of honest rum runners who pass for their stuff after they have disposed of it on shore is the greatest discouragement to the financing of illicit traffic on this side.
I have been told of one skipper, operating on the Great Lakes for a syndicate controlled by men also interested in one of the principal distilleries of Scotland who receives $2,000 monthly and whose life is insured for $40,000. The syndicate also has contracted in the case of his death to pay his widow $5,000.

Now Hiram is going to have a chance to find out just who put the Cal in California. —Manila Bulletin.

SWIMMING GIRLS ATTRACTION AT MIAMI BEACH

Two Bathing Suits Are Worn, One Slipped Off When They Enter Water—Practice For Olympic.

BY ROBERT T. SMALL
(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee.)
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 9.—And now it is the swimming girls. Jack Dempsey is gone but the feminine champions of the aquatic world are here to take his place. In the social swim, as well as in the briny pools. There are fifteen or sixteen of the girls, all working out for the Olympic team, and as they have been lowering established marks every day, it seems most of them will make the grade.
While the girl swimmers are giving society daily thrills at the Roman pools, they are getting a few thrills themselves from the society maids and maidens who frequent the bathing beach.

They have marveled, for instance, at the girl who brought forty-eight bathing suits with her to Miami Beach and says she has sixty-two more at home. She never appears twice during the season in the same suit and quite often changes during a single bathing season. At first blush the idea of having to lug along forty-eight bathing suits would seem a terrific burden. But at first sight of the fair daughter of Neptune, all idea of a burden fades away. All of the forty-eight varieties probably could be packed into a single hand bag and then leave room for a few toilet requisites.

The swimming girls have marveled also at the large number of girls, fanned to a bronze, who daily parade the strand and never get near the water. The girl champions are a rather modest lot. They ever appear without a heavy cape and they wear two swimming suits, one of silk and one of woolen jersey. Just before taking to the water, jersey suit is slipped off and nothing remains but the glistening black silk. Silk has been found to absorb less water and offer less resistance than any other material.

The amazing part of the girl swimmers is their youth. All are under twenty, most of them under seventeen. Gertrude Ederle of New York, who holds virtually all of the free style speed records is one of the youngsters of the group and so is Helen Wainwright, her closest competitor for world honors.

While society has taken up the youngsters with a rush and has had them out to tea dances, dinner parties, luncheons and other fetes and functions, the little athletes are under the strictest chaperonage. Last night they were hauled away from a dinner dance almost literally by the ears. No amount of pleading for "just another dance" would soften the hearts of the officials of the Women's Swimming Association—who have the champions in tow.

It is not that dissipation for the swimmers and it is not that the swimming is too strenuous a sport, but the officials are anxious to keep the girls in the fittest sort of shape for they feel sure they are going to bring home from Paris virtually all of the prizes for which they compete.

There is a particular enthusiasm among the group over the work of Sybil Bauer, the backhand swimmer. It is planned to enter Miss Bauer against the men swimmers at the Olympic in this branch of swimming. The rules of the games have been studied and it is claimed there is nothing in them to bar women from any of the major competitions. Miss Bauer is so much in a class by herself in the backhand style that it is felt she can give the best of the men the keenest competition.

SINCLAIR AT COLOGNE

(By the Associated Press.)
BERLIN, Feb. 8.—Harry F. Sinclair arrived in Cologne today from Brussels, according to newspaper advice, where he conferred with Hugo Stinnes regarding oil propositions. The arrangements for the meeting were made in the United States during the recent visit of Stinnes' son. It is said that the purpose of the conference concerns the purchase of crude oil from the Sinclair corporation.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 9.—Carl Eldh, Sweden's foremost sculptor, will leave soon to make his home in California. His wife, during a recent visit to Los Angeles, bought a villa near the city where they will reside.
Mrs. Eldh was so charmed with California that after her return to Sweden, she prevailed upon the sculptor to take his art to that state.

Another Broadway Butterfly Pays With Life

LOUISE LAWSON

DOT KING

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—In a notorious Broadway cabaret a table is vacant for the first time in years. It stands as a silent tribute to the queen that once reigned over it—nightly. For down the steep trail blazed by Dot King, and other Broadway Butterfly, the girl who paid her tolls with death, has gone 24-year-old Louise Lawson. She came from Walnut Springs, Tex., to make her way in the big city and ended in its morgue.

In the wake of her brutal murder in a costly apartment on the West Side just off Central Park, comes the usual sensation involving wealthy men prominent in financial and social circles. There are stories of wild nights; champagne parties; week-end trips to the country; and "heavy-sugar" daddies.

But soon there will be another queen and Broadway will forget. For the mad merry-go-round whirls on.

And on.

REFUSE TO DISCUSS RESIGNATION GERMAN AMBASSADOR

(By the Associated Press.)

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—The foreign office refused to discuss the report of the possible resignation of Ambassador Wiedfeldt as a result of the Washington flag incident although in official and semi-official circles the position is taken that the instructions sent to the ambassador by the foreign office two days before Mr. Wilson's death empowered him to place the embassy flag at half staff if he thought it advisable.

This view, however, apparently is not shared by most of the foreign diplomats here who hold that the foreign office's instructions advising Ambassador Wiedfeldt that the German government desired to take no official recognition of Mr. Wilson's death, but authorizing him to do what he thought best in a strictly personal capacity, did not justify him in placing the embassy flag at half staff, which action is universally regarded by diplomats as an official act.

REBELS CAPTURE MINER

(By the Associated Press.)
EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 9.—Paul Gintner, prominent mining man of El Paso and Chihuahua, has been taken prisoner by revolutionists under the command of Hipolito Villa and Manuel Chao, and is being held for ransom, according to word received here from Chihuahua.

POSSE AFTER MURDERER

(By the Associated Press.)
ROCKWOOD, TENN., Feb. 8.—Deputy Sheriff John Swan, 40, and Constable J. A. Jett, 50, both of South Harrison, Tenn., were shot to death near Emory Gap today while in the act of raiding a whiskey still. Thirty armed men are now engaged in a search for Walter Newport, who officers say, is responsible for the killings.

of which were of more than minor importance.
Her musical training was a bit more successful. Through her playing she made many friends—some of whom are prominently mentioned in the investigation of her murder.
Her life became a gay one. She moved into a three-room apartment in the fashionable "Monastery"—opposite the Museum of Natural History.

There she had a colored maid come in at 11 o'clock in the morning to awaken her and give her breakfast. For her parties usually broke up late.

But one morning there was no awakening her. This is what the colored maid found:
Her mistress, dressed in a blue dressing gown, lying strangled in her bed, beneath a pink blanket; her white wire-haired terrier pet "Texie" tied up in another room; drawers, papers, scattered all over the floor; jewelry gone; a half-empty champagne bottle standing on the ice-box; photographs thrown down on the red drapes over the piano.

Among these was one of Gerhard M. Dahl, former vice president of the Chase National Bank, now a broker and Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Company.

His was the first name dragged in to the case. He is more than 50 years old, prominent in social life and married. His wife is away in Florida.

When his son started to rehearse his jazz orchestra at home, the father left for Europe and gave the sobbing sax and the insidious clarinet free range of the family mansion.

Don't Suffer With Itching Rashes Use Cuticura

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Roger Wolff Kahn, 17, may some day be as great a financier as his father, Otto H. Kahn. The lad is a saxophone player and is organizing a jazz orchestra to play in vaudeville.

The elder Kahn at 17 was ambitious to be a playwright. He wrote two tragedies and then took up a business career, accumulating millions. Now if the boy is unsuccessful in business, he, too, may turn to commerce.

In the background of almost every story of success lies a story of thwarted ambition.
After Otto Kahn became a very rich man, he turned to the cause of Art. He is the principal backer of the Theater Guild. Through his success in business he has been enabled to do more for Art than he ever would have been able to do through his own talent had he stuck to playwriting.

Just the other day Kahn talked to the New York Drama League. He said, "I have long felt and believed that every man who has attained material success should look upon himself as an investment which the community has made. In return for the opportunities given him and for the financial results which they have brought, it is up to him to yield dividends in service to the community."

All of the arts in America would be much further advanced if a few more of our dollar-chasers had the same theories and put them into practice, as Kahn does.

The American people, Kahn said, are "a good deal more susceptible and responsive to the call of what is high and handsome than we know or admit ourselves."

What Kahn means is that every American boy has some artistic flare in his make-up. He keeps it submerged because any talent in the line of music, painting and acting stamps him as "classified" among other American boys who may have similar talent. This false tradition which exists among the youngsters is due pretty largely to compulsory participation and practice forced on them by their parents.

America may take the lead in all arts when American parents make piano practice as attractive as baseball practice.

Kahn is a tolerant man in that respect.

LEPERE PLANE NEEDS NEW MOTOR FOR ATTEMPTS

DAYTON, O., Feb. 8.—Before any additional attempts for altitude records can be made with the Lepere plane, a new motor will have to be installed, according to officials of McCook field. A second flight will be delayed by Lieut. John A. Macready until this work is performed.

The date for the second attempt will depend upon the results of preliminary flights. Macready was forced down when within a few hundred feet of a new altitude record, in his last attempt, because of mechanical trouble.

An open mind may be one that is too porous to hold a conviction.—St. Louis City (La.) Journal.

Girl, Pet of Rich Men, Slain

Hands tied behind her back, ankles bound to bedpost, head covered with towels fastened by adhesive tape, Louise Lawson (above), daughter of Broadway, was found by her maid in apartment strangled. The place had been ransacked and Miss Lawson's money and jewels taken. The only clues that the police have is story of elevator man that two men posing as expressmen entered apartment.

WAKE FOREST HAS NAMED GLEE CLUB

WAKE FOREST, N. C., Feb. 9.—Wake Forest College has just completed the selection of the personnel of its 1924 Glee Club and orchestra with a total of 21 names on the Glee Club list and 17 names of the orchestra list. The preliminary try-out held during the past week when many of the students came out for the tests of their abilities as singers and entertainers.

Dr. H. M. Potat, who is directing the Glee Club and conducted the try-out, has expressed himself as being well pleased with the prospects of this year's Glee Club. He stated that though much of the talent was undeveloped and especially for public appearance, he believed that the club would make a good showing.

Such confidence has Dr. Potat in the results that will be shown by the club with a few weeks training that he has already sanctioned the entrance of the Wake Forest Glee Club into the Intercollegiate Glee Club contest that will be held in Durham on May 2 next. Other colleges that will enter their glee clubs in the contest are Davidson, Carolina, Trinity, Guilford, and others not yet definitely decided.

The Wake Forest Glee Club will go on a tour of either the eastern or western part of the state in the middle of April. This will not only be the first tour but the glee club that Wake

LLOYD'S AGENTS RE- CALL QUEER RISKS

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The removal of Lloyd's insurance business from the premises occupied for 150 years re- calls many interesting features in connection with this ancient corpora- tion.

While marine insurance is still the main business, as it has been since Edward Lloyd founded it, members are prepared to underwrite practically any sort of risk, and the records of Lloyd's contain some curious en- tries. There is the story of one man insuring himself for $100,000 against the consequences of laying violent hands on his mother-in-law. When George II led his troops at the bat- tle of Dettingen, the risk of his re- turning alive was insured again at 25 per cent. In 1813 a policy of ELKS INDOOR CARNIVAL. Contest For Prizes Starts Today. When Tickets Go on Sale.

Already a number of well known ladies are interested in the Elks In- door Carnival prize contest, and pleas- ant rivalry will be seen in offering the season tickets starting today. The Elks have always given freely use of their club rooms for va- rious community and church enter- tainments, and now an opportunity is afforded for the friends of the lodge to help out in a worthy undertaking to meet the demands upon this organiza- tion in its charity work.

The season tickets, good for seven admissions, are $1.00. The contestants receive 1,000 votes with each ticket sold, and also bonus votes on fifty tickets and over. The three prizes are a Ford coupe fully equipped, a hand- some living room suite, and $50.00 in gold. Those not winning prizes will receive cash commissions.

The Indoor Carnival opens on Sat- urday night, March 1st, and continues nightly through Saturday, March 8th. There will be attractive daily pro- grams by professional artists, and ex- cellent music for dancing. Committees of the lodge, headed by S. W. Collier, chairman, are handling the various details of the entertainment, which promises to be one of the most in- teresting and successful ever under- taken by the Elks.

'SPICE OF 1923'

Famous Winter Garden Show at the Majestic Next Thursday
"Spice of 1923," which was the sensation of the New York Winter Garden and has been repeating its success throughout its transcontinental tour will be the attraction at the Majestic, Thursday, Feb. 14th. The entire scenic investiture and practically the original company will be seen here.

"Spice" calls for the services of one of the largest companies ever sent on tour. The list of principals looks like a theatrical blue book and there is a very large chorus. It is frankly of the revue type of entertainment although its comedy, in particular, is strikingly American. Jack Laft, who wrote the book and lyrics, has a highly humorous, if satirical, pen. Consequently, "Spice" presents the most up to date of American fun, combined with a Parisian atmosphere of color and gorgeous scenery.

It has been regarded as the speediest show ever built in America. Allan K. Foster, associated for many years with the New York Winter Garden, staged the dances and double corps of state mechanics and inventors devised numerous schemes which add much novelty to the entire performance. The little sketches in which "Spice" abound are bright, witty, satirical and full of laughs and the specialties are high diversified. Originally a cooperative venture, the creation of "Spice" called for and received the attention and services of many of "the brains" of the theatrical profession.

Edward L. Bloom, who now presents "Spice" has gathered together the extraordinary array of talent which will be seen here. George Price, unequalled in song and story heads the cast which also includes such charmers and funmakers and dancers as Alice Ridnor, Florence Browne, Sam Hearn, Thomas Morris, Evelyn Downing, Demidoff and Gansakourdia, Dolores Suarez, Eddie Fox, Maria Chaney and the Castle House Orchestra. The magnificence of the entire production is said to rival the glories of King Tutankhamen.

Prices 50c to $2.50 plus tax. Seat sale opens Monday 10 a. m.

Investigators doubtless will discover that the only thing about Germany that is unimpaired in her nerve, —Grosley (Col.) Tribune-Republican.

Edith Thayer declares high production costs have followed Franco-Belgian agreement and continuation of present conditions will necessitate general shut down in France.

AL
Al Johnson's new contract will pay him $5000 a week salary and half of the profits, or about $300,000 a year, theatrical managers estimate. Maybe you remember Al years ago, just starting out in the business of making people laugh, as a blackface minstrel man. His salary in those days probably was about $50 a week, or less.

"You never can tell." Life is uncertain. Success may be just around the corner, when the outlook is darkest. Remember Al Johnson when inclined to be discouraged.

WEATHER

This winter has averaged very mild, despite occasional severe cold waves. Talk continues, whether climate is changing or not. Old records show that the winter of 1897 in Maine was milder than now, with only 18 days of good sleighing. Ireland interrupts the weather discussion to announce that 1923 was the wettest year it ever had. It rained 271 out of the 365 days, with a total rainfall of 56 inches during the year.

As Ed Howe once complained, everybody talks about the weather but no one ever does anything about it.

HOOSH

Canada reports officially that its exports of liquor last year totaled less than 14 million dollars. At the very most, this means that not more than two million quarts of whisky came into our country from Canada—or only a quart a year for every 54 Americans.

The booze flood from outside our borders is big, no denying that. But it's not as big as imagined—at least, not in the case of Canada, popularly supposed to be a main source of supply for American bootleggers.

Six Deportees
Slain in Crash

(Associated Press Licensed Wire)
MOSCOW, Feb. 11.—Six deportees, including two women, were killed or died of wounds in the clash between prisoners and guards in the exile barracks of the Solovetsky monastery on December 19, according to an official report of the incident. Two others were wounded. The cause of the trouble is not given. Commissar of Justice Kurski in a recent interview said he believed the mutineers were members of an anarchist group.
